Art for Everyone

When we want to see art, where do we go? It is hard to visit museums and galleries because of COVID-19. But sometimes, we can find art outside in the neighborhood. Murals are large artworks. The artists paint them on walls. Philadelphia is famous for its murals. Mural Arts Philadelphia makes 4,000 works. Often, they represent the neighborhood.

Lisa Murch is the leader of art education at Mural Arts Philadelphia. Mural Arts runs a youth plan. The group teaches kids how to make murals. Students get a chance to work with great artists. Alaina Ewins took Mural Arts lessons when she was 13. She's now a teaching artist for the plan. "We got to create the mural and paint it. It was amazing," she says.

COVID-19 changed mural making. Artists should stay home. They can't work on the murals together. Murch says some artists are painting pieces of murals at home. The pieces will later be put on a wall. They will fit together like a giant puzzle.
